Blond Embezzler Gets 1 Year

Set Record High Budget for '52-53

Line Held On Tax Rate

A record high budget of $647,914 for 1952-53 will be approved by the city council at an adjourned meeting Monday evening.

The budget for the next fiscal year will be close to $75,000 higher than the 1951-52 budget of $575,721.

While the council will not fix the tax rate until July, an increased tax base of $3,000,000 will enable them to hold the line at last year's $1.295 per $100 assessed valuation.

Increases in the budget were made to handle additional expenditures for:

1. Completion of the recreation program in Daly City as well as purchase of additional equipment.

2. Additional personnel in various city departments including police, fire and recreation.

Five more full time firemen will be added to the present five-man department. Also, a fire captain is to be appointed.

The police department will get 4 more men, including a Lieutenant, to bring the total number on the force to 24.

Pay Boost

3. A six per cent across-the-board salary increase for Daly City's 50 employes. This will mean pay hikes averaging from $18 to $30 a month. City Administrator Dan Andersen was included in this category, bringing his salary up to $350 a month.

4. Added facilities for police and fire operation.

5. Setting aside $10,000 for the purchase of a site for a park in Westlake.

This, and other information, will be included in the mayor's annual message before the city council next Monday night when they meet to formally adopt the budget.

Good Budget

"It is believed that the enclosed budget will provide for adequate municipal services for our residents in the most economical manner practicable under today's market conditions," Mayor Paul Green will state.

"The entire council has collaborated in preparation of this budget, and we feel it is one of the best in many years."

The budget message also will call for a tighter control on spending:

"It is recommended that budget control system be put into operation in the purchasing department so that requisitions not reflected in the budget cannot be honored without appropriations by the city council. The procedure for such a system has been set up."

PINGRY QUESTIONS B'MOOR-WESTLAKE SHUTTLE BUS DEAL

Partial opposition to use of the Broadmoor shuttle bus by Westlake residents was sounded this week by George Pingry, president of the Westlake Improvement Association.

Pingry says he is afraid such a system would result in a "sight seeing tour" instead of transportation.

"If the bus is routed through both Broadmoor and Westlake it would take much too long to reach a final destination," Pingry declared.

He favors, however, alternately running the bus from Daly City to Broadmoor and back; and from Daly City to Westlake and return. This he believes would result in the necessary direct service.

Meanwhile, final figures on a recent poll of Westlake transportation needs are about completed. Early next week they will be turned over to Councilman Joseph Verducci, chairman of the transportation committee.

Flood Lights Asked For Park

Commission Wants Action At Marchbanks

There shall be light . . . at least at Marchbanks park if the Daly City Recreation Commission has its way.

At their regular meeting Tuesday evening the five-man board recommended the city council appropriate funds for a battery of flood lights at Marchbanks. The group asserts the lights are necessary, if Daly City is ever to have an adequate evening recreation program.

Approximate cost of rigging up the lights on six poles in the lower level of the park is betwen $2,500 and $3,000. While costly, the commission said local sentiment has been for such a move for the past six years.

George Pingry, commission chairman, said there should be enough left in the $101,000 parks bond fund to pay for the floods.

Turf Problem

Other recommendations made by the commission to the council included:

1. The turf in the lower field at Marchbanks park is in "very bad shape." One of the easiest ways to remedy this would be to "skin" the field for softball games. This simply means taking out the grass in the infield and between the bases. The council is asked to study the advisability of such a move.

2. The time has long since past when a full time custodian and maintenance man is needed for the various parks, the commission believes. Necessity for such a man will be even more evident when the Community Center building is completed. Therefore, the commission recommends the city council hire a full time janitor for the recreation department.

Salary Hike

3. Salaries of part-time playground directors should be raised, the commission asserted. The presnt range is between $1.10 and $1.30 an hour. This makes it especially difficult to hire competent help as the going rate in San Francisco is $1.85 an hour. The commission recommends the council raise the hourly wage a minimum of 10 cents, and if at all possible high enough to meet the San Francisco scale.

Car Runs Down Boy On Knowles

The intersection on Knowles and Mission street almost claimed a fatality Wednesday afternoon.

At 12:05 p. m. James Brooks, 8, 117 Los Banos made a dash across Knowles. Mid-way in the street he was allegedly struck down by a car turning into Knowles off Mission driven by Graham Carter, 22, 171 Los Banos.

The youth was taken to Junipero Serra hospital where he was treated for head injuries and abrasions. He was released several hours later.

Carter claimed Brooks dashed from behind a car and he was unable to stop his machine in time. Police cited the driver for failure to give a pedestrian the right-of-way. Carter will appear before Judge William J. Sweeney next Wednesday to answer the charge.

Arrest Businessman On Firecracker Ordinance

Joseph Horn, owner of Joe's Hobby Shop, 77 Hillcrest drive, Daly City, was arrested this week by Fire Chief Elmer Kennedy and two Daly City policemen, Inspector August Benassini and Sergeant Benedetti.

Horn was charged with violating a city ordinance prohibiting the possession of firecrackers. He was released on $50 bail.

Playgrounds Set For Westlake-Colma Schools This Fall

City Is Working Out Plans With School Officials

Two new auxiliary playgrounds may be in operation here this fall, THE RECORD learned today.

Working to overcome the shortage of funds for parks, the city will cooperate with the Jefferson elementary school district to set up at least temporary playgrounds at the Westlake and Colma schools.

At a special meeting of the Jefferson elementary school board last Thursday, Elman Rose and Mrs. Ann Eason represented the city in an effort to work out plans for the playground.

The tentative agreement reached Thursday calls for the school system supplying the sites at the Colma and Westlake schools. The city will bear the cost of most of the equipment.

Westlake

Plans call for the Westlake playground to include a basketball and teather ball court furnished by the school; and a horizontal ladder, a circus, swings, jung jim and portable basketball stops paid for by the city.

In Colma the city is to come up with a basketball court, teather pole court and a portable baseball backstop.

"Of course, all of this is tentative and full details must be worked out with the city," H. Z. Weibel, superintendent of schools, said today.

Supervision

A major problem facing the playgrounds is one of supervision. The Daly City recreation department is short of personnel, and presently the school system can offer little or no help.

"However, we hope to overcome this by hiring a full-time physical education director for the schools this fall," Weibel said.

Chances of the city hiring additional part-time recreation employees appears fairly good, Rose told the school board.

Westlake Sidewalk Plans Speeded

Westlake residents soon may get the long delayed sidewalk from Junipero Serra boulevard west down Alemany.

George Pingry, president of the Westlake Property Owners association, reported the board of directors met last week to work out plans for financing the walk.

It has been tentatively agreed that the association will pay one-third the cost, Henry Doelger another third and the city the remainder.

"Mr. Doelger appears in agreement with this idea, as does the city council," Pingry said.

Estimated cost of the walk has still to be determined.

However, instead of providing a walk from Junipero Serra down the length of the Alemany extension, the board has agreed it would be cheaper and more satisfactory to cut a walk through from the boulevard to the east end of North Mayfair.

Work is expected to begin when the city clears the legal decks for payment of the walk, and calls for the necessary bids.

ANNUAL FIREWORKS DISPLAY SLATED TO EXPLODE OVER MARCHBANKS PARK

Through the rockets' red glare the city will embark upon its annual fireworks display at Marchbanks park next Friday, July 4.

An impressive quantity of powder will explode over the field beginning at 8 p. m. City Administrator Dan Andersen promises this show will be even better than the one which last year attracted close to 5,000 people to Daly City.

Under the supervision of Fire Chief Elmer Kennedy, the entire fireworks production will be set off on the upper level of the field.

Viewers are promised the best show from the lower level, although Andersen claims the explosions will be bright enough to be seen from the ocean.

Those as much interested in their stomachs as the view will be pleased to learn hot dogs and pop will be on sale at the field. Women of the American Legion Auxiliary are doing these honors.

The fireworks display is to compensate for an ordinance which forbids the sale or use of the pyrotechnics within the city limits.

CENTER FINANCING WILL GO TO BONDS; OTHER ISSUES UP TO VOTERS IN FALL

The Community Center is to be completed by funds raised from a bond issue, not by raising the tax rate.

This decision was made by the city council at a caucus meeting Monday evening, and will be part of the mayor's annual budget message to the public next week.

Toying with the idea of upping the present $1.29 tax rate, the council saw a way out of the dilemma which has resulted in a vacant $350,00 building on Mission and Alp streets. Between $100,000 and $150,000 is needed to finish the structure which was born on paper three years ago.

Had the council chosen to open the door for higher taxes this would not have meant a flat raising of the amount. Actually, through assessing a special levy, the city would have been forced to drag out completion of the structure for almost two years.

The council decided, therefore, to make another effort at passing a supplemental bond issue. This will be presented to the people early in the fall.

August Out

(Time has caught up with the city, and the hopes of the council to present the Center bond issue, as others, in August, has been ruled out. Closest reliable guess now is September.)

The idea of upping taxes for this project was ruled out, also, as it would have meant one group of taxpayers sharing the whole burden. Under the bond setup it takes from 15 to 20 years to retire the bonds, giving everyone a "chance" to help pay for the building.

Meanwhile, the council will borrow a few more dollars from the general fund (total borrowed to date: $25,000) for landscaping the building.

Other major projects to be handled by bond issues which will be called for by the mayor, have already been reported in THE RECORD. These will include:

Water Bonds

1. Approximately $500,000 for modernization and expansion of the water department. This will be in the form of revenue bonds and the mayor believes "that the revenue bonds can be financed without affecting the present low water rate, due to the additional volume of operations and the efficiency of the modern machinery and equipment."

2. A bond issue of from $64,000 to $100,000 for expansion and modernization of the fire department, including a fire station at Westlake.

As noted, these bond issues, coupled with the one for the Community Center building, probably will be presented in September.

Sewage Plant

Meanwhile, the North County Sanitation District is working out plans for a sewage treatment plant for the area. Required by state law, the plant will go up in Westlake and will put an end to Daly City's present method of disposing of waste in the ocean.

Preliminary figures had set the cost of this plant at $500,000. However, this week Councilman A. J. Gaggero made a survey of similar plants in other sections of the state and he now believes the job

School Rooms For Community Center In Doubt

Question Is How Many Classrooms To Be Used

A final decision on whether or not the Community Center is to be used for school rooms is still up in the air, THE RECORD learned today.

Unable to attend a scheduled meeting between himself and the Jefferson elementary school board last Thursday evening, Mayor Paul Green sent a letter explaining the council's position on the building's use.

Green's letter confirmed reports received by THE RECORD over the past two weeks. The city council recognized the need for assisting the schools, but at the same time is leary of tying up the building in such a manner as to hinder its completion.

Tie Up

"We are reticent to tie up the building for a year, as we feel we may be able to fully or partially complete it," Green said.

"Accordingly we ask the school board to defer thinking for a couple of weeks until the council can decide on a definite program."

Regardless of how the council decides, it is going to be a difficult choice. If the school is unable to use at least a portion of the Center the heretofore full time eighth grade will be on swing shift sessions this fall. On the other hand, if the school gets the use of the building, this may tie up completion of the structure for a full year.

Contacted by THE RECORD this week, Mayor Green said he would ask for a meeting between himself and the school board sometime after July 1 in an effort to reach a final decision on the matter.

Thief Gets Ancient Gun From Parked Trailer

A muzzle-loader shotgun was stolen late last week from Mrs. C. W. Rutherford, apartment two, Golden West motel.

The gun, a family relic, was taken from a trailer parked in the rear of the motel, she told Daly City police.

Two Rotated Home

Two Daly City men were aboard the transport Gen. R. L. Howze with 2851 army rotation personnel which docked in San Francisco Monday morning. They were First Lt. Lawrence E. Driscoll of 43 Windsor drive, Daly City, and Capt. Volney J. Tidball, Jr., of 80 Forest Grove drive.

CAPTURE TWO YOUTHS IN STOLEN TRUCK

Driving a stolen pickup truck, two youths who escaped from the Fricot Ranch home for boys were picked up last Sunday by Sgt. Dave Hansen of the Daly City police force.

Hansen said that he stopped the truck—reported stolen from San Francisco late Saturday night—at 3 a.m. Sunday and found the pair—age 14 and 15 years—driving it.

They were released to San Francisco police and taken to the Youth Guidance center.

Firemen Save Cat's Nine Lives

Maltese Rescued From $4,000 Blaze

A cat may have nine lives, but firemen were taking no chances Tuesday evening when they rescued a maltese from a $4,000 house fire at 286 Hillside boulevard.

Hose hoisters found the cat, groggy and almost overcome by smoke, lying on the floor just above the basement where the fire broke out. Chief Elmer Kennedy reports a brave fireman picked up the cat, rushed him outside, and applied the oxygen mask to his (or her) face. This quick action made it unnecessary to ascertain whether a cat has eight or more lives.

More serious aspect of the blaze in the Jack Elmore home was the loss which Chief Kennedy figures at about $4,000 in damage to the basement and first floor. Cause of the fire is still undetermined.

Elmore was sitting upstairs at 5:30 p. m. when he smelled smoke. He dashed into the basement in time to see a wall of flame enveloping the south end of the garage. Elmore was able to save his car, but by the time firemen arrived the basement was beyond the point where it could be saved from serious damage.

All the fire equipment in the city was rushed to the blaze, and quick action by local blaze busters saved it from spreading.

There was another casualty besides the cat. He is Tom Joyce, a fireman in Company No. 1, who suffered a cut wrist while fighting the blaze.

Flood Control Funds Requested

Council Sets Up New Commissions

A request for $1,150 from the state for repair of flood damages in Daly City was made by the city council at their regular meeting Monday evening.

The money, to be matched by an equal amount from the city coffers, will be used to repair drains and sidewalks on Acton, School and Railroad, and portions of Mission. The request was made in the form of a resolution still to be approved by the state.

This was preceded by a suggestion from the Civil Service Board of Review that probation time for new city employees be extended from six months to one year. City Administrator Dan Andersen explained to the council this would give the city additional time to "detect" any physical or other defects in the applicant.

Reluctant

The council appeared reluctant to make the change, and asked Andersen for additional information and statistics from other cities. Final decision will be made at another meeting.

Only other important business at the routine meeting was the passage of ordinances setting up the police and planning commissions. Both bodies will have an official status in 30 days, and are scheduled to meet once a month, time of which has to be established by the commission.

Kings Worker Pleads Guilty

Striving with only partial success to maintain her calm appearance, Mrs. Mary Elizabeth Righetti, blonde Palo Alto housewife who admitted embezzling $1850 from King's Market, listened while Daly City Judge William J. Sweeney sentenced her to a year in the county jail Wednesday.

Waiving her rights to arraignment, a jury and other customary legal procedures at the trial, Mrs. Righetti arrived at City Hall earlier in the day after Inspector August Benassini of the Daly City police arrested her on a warrant charging 12 counts of petty theft.

Holding two newspapers over her face to shield it from photographers, she heard her attorney make a brief plea before the sentence was made.

Restitution

In addition to imprisonment, Judge Sweeney ordered her to make restitution to the King's market, 2350 Junipero Serra boulevard, for the money she admittedly stole while employed there as a bookkeeper.

Loss of the money was discovered by King's market officials on Monday, June 16. The 27-year-old housewife, who lives with her husband—a TWA aircraft mechanic—at 3436 Cowper court, Palo Alto, was discharged immediately.

She returned the next day, say police, and removed the store's books for March, April and May, taking them to the Burlingame city dump and burning them.

Books Audited

Estimates by store officials show that she may have taken up to $7500 between December 14, 1951, and the day she was fired. A complete audit is being made to determine the exact amount.

The money was taken in small amounts over the period of her employment. Mrs. Righetti said it was used to pay family bills, including payments on a car, furniture and the new home in South Palo Alto that she and her husband, George, moved into four months ago.

In a statement to bonding company authorities, Mrs. Righetti said she altered cash register readings so as to take money turned over to her at the beginning of each work day.

She was in charge of making out the market's bank deposits each day, checking cash register readings against receipts from the previous day. Store officials held up the warrant for four days while questioning her on the theft.

Her method, say police, was to alter cash register figures slightly while making out the checks, then pocket the difference.

Other Market

Meanwhile, the Territos market in Redwood city had ordered an audit of their books for the past three years. Mrs. Righetti had worked there as a bookkeeper before moving to the King's market.

Waiting to be booked at the Daly City police station, Mrs. Righetti refused to make a statement to THE RECORD. "This is bad enough as it is without me having to say anything to the newspapers," she said.

In sentencing her, Judge Sweeney dropped the last 10 charges on condition that she make restitution for the money stolen. He committed her to the county jail for six months on each of the first two charges.

City Recreation Leader To Resign

Elman Rose Gives Up Job In September

Elman Rose, director of recreation in Daly City for the past six years, announced today he will resign from that post September 15.

He is stepping down to make way for a full time director to be hired by the city this fall.

Except for working full time during the summers, Rose has been paid $127 a month for 80 to 100 hours of work after school. His summer salary was $325 a month.

"I don't feel it is possible to devote the time necessary to Daly City's expanded recreation program on a part-time basis," Rose said. "The council appears to be of the same opinion, and according to plan I shall resign this fall."

Delayed

The "plan" has been delayed for over a year. According to original hopes a full time recreation director was to be hired when the Community Center building was completed. However, despite the fact the building is not finished, Rose and the council still feel a director is necessary.

A mathematics teacher at Jefferson high school, Rose said today he has no intentions of applying for the full job as director; nor is he interested in any more part-time work.

While there has been some friction between Rose and a city councilman, Rose says he is retiring upon his own volition and no pressure has been brought to bear.

Meanwhile, the council has still to hand down a decision as to a proposed hike in his salary for the summer months. The Recreation Commision recently recommended a boost, but has not been advised as to the council's decision.

Rose resides at 856 Beechwood drive, Broadmoor, with his wife and two children, Ronald, 10 and Caroline, 7.

Crocker Lake To Be Drained

Action Promised Soon To Eliminate Trap

Elimination of an inoffensive looking irrigation pond, which lured two youths to their deaths in the Crocker hills recently, was a virtual certainty today.

The small lake is to be drained either late this week or early in July, Dan Andersen, city administrative officer, reported today.

Officials of the Crocker estate will give the order to empty the pond with the completion of a tie-in with the Daly City water system. The city council Monday evening approved a request by the Crocker people to use local water.

Expensive

A pipe, 800 to 1,000 feet long, will run from farm lands in the Crocker hills to the local water supply. This will be a temporary measure until such time as this year's crops may be harvested. Full cost of installing the pipe as well as the 15,000 gallons of water to be used each day will be borne by the Crocker estate, andersen said.

The pipe is necessary as the dangerous pond was the main source of water supply to a farmer leasing the lands behind Daly City. Failure to drain the lake before was due to the fear sion will act in an advisory capacity only; while the planning commission will have certain powers for zoning as prescribed by state law.

Michael DeBernardi asked the council why the police commission consisted of only three men while the library, planning and recreation commission included five men.

Five Men

"If we had our way they would all be three men groups," Mayor Paul Green replied. "We believe a smaller body to be more efficient. However, in the cases mentioned the state requires five men boards."

Although the police commission members were not officially named Monday evening, two of them were in the audience. Mayor Green introduced Tony Ricci and Ed Whitney. Whitney in turn was introduced to the police chief. Ricci said he had already had that honor.

Other commission members are to be named at a later date.

The council adjourned until June 30 when a special meeting is to be held to pass the 1952-53 city budget.

Dead for too much water is Edwin Swayze, 64 North Ridge Rd., San Francisco and Ronald Grimesey, 29 Blythdale avenue, San Francisco. Both boys were 17 years old and drowned in March and June respectively.

Attorney Frank Blum has filed a $20,000 claim against the county for the Swayze family and Attorney Harold Brown has indicated he will file a claim for the Grimesey family.

Talented Youngsters To Get Chance To Perform

An amateur show for all Peninsulans from small-fry to 18 years of age—will be held July 5 at the Redwood city rodeo grounds in conjunction with the 13th annual Redwood city celebration sponsored by the Peninsula Celebration association.

The show is designed to give talented youngesters with dreams of going on the stage a chance to exhibit their talent in singing, dancing and instrument playing.

Mrs. Doris Marzlin of Redwood city, a former singer, is staging the amateur show. A 100 by 50 foot stage will be rolled into the rodeo arena for the show, and a piano and master-of-ceremonies will be on hand.

Spike Fence Leads To Assault Charge

Neighbors Allegedly Battle Over Dog

It started Wednesday afternoon when William Ganon, 57, 318 Woodrow street, attempted to throw up a spiked anti-dog fence around his yard.

As Ganon was driving home one of the last six-inch spikes, point up on the top of his fence, Sam Valentino, 327 Westlake avenue, made an appearance. Ganon allegedly told Valentino he was putting up the fence to keep Valentino's dog out of his yard. He said the pooch had been raising havoc with his garden.

This set off an argument. As the words grew hotter Ganon allegedly swung his hammer but missed the nail. The hammer assertedly came to rest on the top of Valentino's head.

At this point Sgt. Ricco Benedetti and Officer Art Linhares appeared. They rushed Valentino, bloody and still mad, off to Junipero Serra hospital where he was treated for abrasions and released. His condition was reported as not serious.

Ganon was rushed in the other direction to jail. He was charged with assault and released on $250 bail.

The man who allegedly doesn't like his neighbor's dog or his master will appear before Judge William J. Sweeney at 2 o'clock next Wednesday to explain how his hammer slipped.

Meanwhile, work on the spiked fence has been discontinued.

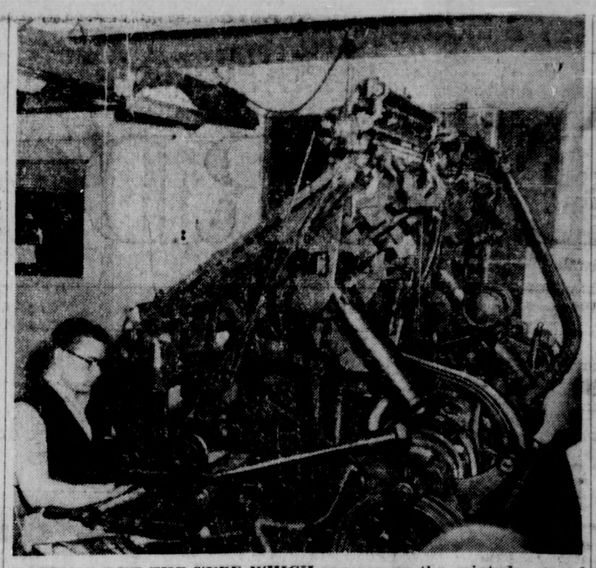
Dr. Chope Gets Bid To Washington

County Health Director Dr. Harold D. Chope will be the only medical representative west of the Mississippi to attend a presidential committee meeting on medical care in Washington D. C. on July 11, if he accepts the invitation.

Chope was the only man this side of the big river to receive an invitation to the one-day meeting which will study the health needs of the nations.

Several other well-known medical men from the eastern part of the United States have also been asked to attend the meetings.

Chope's attendance is subject to approval by the board of supervisors. The letter of invitation was from Dr. Paul D. Magnuson, panel chairman, who pointed out that Chope is the only medical administrator in the nation to have both health and welfare under his jurisdiction.



RAPPING OUT THE TYPE WHICH you see on the printed page of this newspaper is John Harrold, linotype operator for THE RECORD. Workings of the complicated machine are explained in the article.

The Backshop

LINOTYPE SIMPLIFIES PRINTING

(Editor's note: This is the first of a series of feature articles on THE RECORD; how it is written and printed.)

The general belief among printers is that Ottmar Mergenthaler, who invented the Linotype in 1883, went mad working out the complexities of his brainchild.

There is much justification for this point of view, for the Linotype—essential to modern newspaper printing—is more complicated than a locomotive and involves every mechanical principle known to man.

With it, type can be set with many times the speed possible with the old hand-setting method. It goes like this:

The Linotype operator, such as John Harrold of THE RECORD, sits at the machine's complicated keyboard and "types." For each key he strikes, a matrix drops into place in line with preceding matrices and spacing.

When one line of matrices has been set, a lever carries them to a point where they are pressed against molten type metal. The impression the matrices make on the metal produces the "slug," which is merely a line of type.

The slug falls into place in an open tray near the operator's hand. Then more slugs follow it until a sentence, a paragraph and finally, a complete story are set in type. (A story, for instance such as the one you are reading now.)

Before Mr. Mergenthaler's machine came into general use, each character of each word had to be set by hand—a slow process, compared to the Linotype, for even the fastest handsetter.

Now men like Harrold do the same work by the pressure of a finger on a key, but it is a skill that requires time and practice to learn.

Now is his third year at THE RECORD, Harrold is a native of Florida and like the vast majority of printers is a member of the International Typographical Union (which celebrates its 100th anniversary this year).

Like all journeyman printers, he spent six years as an apprentice, in addition to his schooling at the University of Florida and the Southern School of Printing at Nashville, Tenn.

Take 24 Stitches After Auto Crash

Twenty-four stitches were taken at Junipero Serra hospital on an elbow cut suffered by 63-year-old John Mitulin, 444 Persia street, San Francisco, in an auto accident here Saturday.

Mitulin was a passenger in the car driven by Frank P. Archini, 50, of 160 Majestic avenue, San Francisco, which collided at the corner of Hillside and Mission streets with a car driven by Alfred E. Hook of Arizona.

Talk Slated On Subversives

Police work in tracking down subversive elements in our society will be discussed next Tuesday evening at a meeting of the Daly City Auxiliary police.

Guest speaker will be Inspector Tom Fitzpatrick of the San Francisco police subversive detail.

The meeting is scheduled for 7:30 in city hall, 75 Wellington avenue.

Sgt. David Hansen, who leads the auxiliary force, invites all those interested to attend.

Meanwhile, Sgt. Hansen still is looking for men for the auxiliary police force. Only qualifications are that volunteers be over 21 years old and physically able. Recruits may sign up at the police department, city hall, any time during the day or evening.

Protection of wildlife, soil and moisture conservation are part of the responsibilities of the Bureau of Land Management.

MARKET BASKET ANNIVERSARY IS BIG SUCCESS

A record crowd of several thousand crowded the Market Basket, 6318 Mission street, over the week-end to help the management celebrate their second anniversary.

Dan Radovich, manager of the Safe Buy Meat company, also celebrated two years of serving the public with a special on meat buys which captivated the interests of almost every housewife in Daly City.

"Our only regret is that due to the crowds we were not able to offer better service," Catherine Burkard, manager, said today. "However, I am sure our prices on quality food more than made up for this fault."

In aprpeciation for the manner in which the public accepted the anniversary sale, the Market Basket is continuing a raft of fine prices over this weekend. Also, Safe Buy Meat company is again giving their customers some exceptionally fine buys in meats.

"Again many thanks from all of us to all of you," Antone Burkard said on behalf of his frau, Dan, Joe, Bob and Gary.

Schedule Summer Theater Festival For July, August

Summer theater—the best way yet devised to see good plays at low prices—will be ready for Peninsula playgoers in July and August when the Fourth Annual Peninsula Community theater festival presents four productions.

Beginning July 10, the Palo Alto players will offer their presentation of Aldous Huxley's "The Gioconda Smile." The famous suspense drama will run July 10 through 13, and again, July 16-19.

Next on the agenda will be the Millbrae Community players and their offering, "Squaring the Circle," a farce by the Russian playwright Valentino Kaytayev. It will run July 26-27.

Hillbarn Summer theater of San Mateo will present "The Man of Mode," a sparkling restoration comedy by Sir George Etherege, August 1 and 2.

Finale of the season will be the Interplayers of San Francisco, noted for striking productions of plays by such noted dramatists as T. S. Eliot, Gertrude Stein, Christopher Fry and Frederico Lorca. They will present "La Parisienne," a comedy of intrigue by Henry Becque, on August 8 and 9.

All plays of the festival season will be presented in the Palo Alto Community theater. Season tickets are available by writing the Community Theater association, Box 1610, Palo Alto.

Stonestown Office Of American Trust To Open Monday

The Stonestown office of American Trust Company will open for business at 10 a. m., Monday, June 30. The ultra modern new bank is located at the corner of Buckingham Way and 20th avenue in the Medical Center building.

Byron E. Lewis, a native San Franciscan, has been named manager of the new office. Lewis brings to Stonestown a record of broad banking experience, having been associated with American Trust Company since 1928. He comes to Stonestown from the East Bay where he has served as a branch manager for the past ten years.

Customer Convenience

Mr. Lewis in describing the new bank quarters, points out that, "they embody the very latest developments in banking office arrangements and provide numerous innnovations for the convenience of both customer and staff."

Designed to handle maximum traffic, nine tellers' windows are provided for checking, savings and safe deposit activities. The note department, which is a self-contained unit, has an additional two windows for the specific convenience of loan customers.

A spacious officer's platform is located to the left of the main entrance. An unusually large coin and safe deposit vault, constructed of 18 inches of reinforced concrete and steel, is located at the far end of the banking room and is equipped with various size safe deposit boxes. This area also provides ample space for the storage of bulky valuables. Separate and private booths for the examination of valuables is provided as well as a large conference room.

Modern Decorating

The interior walls and ceilings of the new bank combine accoustical plaster and attractively finished walnut panels. The most modern slimlined fluorescent fixtures provide unusually even and attractive illumination. Travetine marble has been used for the main lobby floor and all counters are of Verdello marble with Belgian Petite marble bases.

All working areas have an asphalt tile floor with special cork inserts in tellers' areas. A lounge and lunch room on the mezannine floor has been provided for the comfort of the employees.

The exterior of the bank is unusually attractive and is in keeping with the character of the Stonestown development, with large glass areas accented by granitex and natural stone.

Night deposit service is available and the depository is located on the east exterior wall of the building.

CHILD'S BIKE STOLEN

A red and cream bicycle was stolen late last week from 10-year-old Felix Valdez, 345 Westlake avenue, Daly City.

Felix reported to Daly City police that the bike was taken from a garage at 658 San Diego avenue.

Pioneer Hall of the California Historical Society in San Francisco houses a large collection of early California mementos.

Walkers Enjoy Weekend In Yosemite Valley

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Walker, 101 East Vista avenue, Daly City, spent a pleasant weekend on the Chinchilla farm of the latter's sister in Yosemite valley.

The Walkers report that the park is full to over-flowing.

Highlight of their visit, they report, was a parade of old autos, many of which were hauled into the park on trailers for the occasion. "It's surprising how many of the old-timers made it up the mountain, though," said Mrs. Walker.

The auto club meets in the valley every year at this time, she added; and the parade was made particularly enjoyable by the fine weather in Yosemite.

Fossil remains of ancient marine animals have been found at many localities between the Berkeley Hills and the San Joaquin Valley.

Knowledge is Power

1. WHO IS THE FOREMOST MAGAZINE PRINTING PRESS DESIGNER?
2. DOES RHEUMATIC FEVER REQUIRE PROLONGED TREATMENT?
3. HOW DOES A FRENCHMAN RELAX?

(1) Adolph Zuckerman of New York City is regarded by his competitors as the leading designer, according to an article in the April "Catholic Digest." Since 1919 he has been chief designer of the Hoe Printing Press company. The Webb Publishing company of St. Paul, Minn., has just put into operation Zuckerman's latest magazine press which prints some 16,000 copies of the "Catholic Digest" in one hour. After two days of preparing ink and metal plates for a press run, the Webb printers can turn out the 570,000 copies of the Digest in another three days.

(2) From 6,000 to 7,000 American boys and girls between the ages of five and 24 die of rheumatic fever each year. "Today's Health" magazine reports. In many cases they die because parents do not keep them indoors and resting until their hearts can recover fully from the damage of rheumatic fever. Important, too, is immediate treatment. Delay in calling a physician when symptoms of rheumatic fever appear may be fatal.

(3) He has many methods of relaxation, but one of the important ones is an early evening session at his favorite cafe, according to Joseph A. Barry's book, "Left Bank, Right Bank." Between 6 and 8 p.m., writes Barry, "between work and wife, Jean Dupont sits in his favorite chair at his favorite cafe, sips a drink (never a soft drink that might spoil his appetite) and reads his favorite newspaper. His favorite newspaper rarely upsets him because (1) he buys only the one that he agrees with completely, and (2) he never completely believes what he reads."

COLMA SCHOOL GRADUATES GET FINAL PARTY

A party was given for the youngsters of Room 4 of the Colma school following their graduation. Highlight of the celebration was the surprise presentation of a cake, on which was written, "Class of '52."

Held at the home of Beverly Sundermann, 32 San Pedro avenue, the evening was spent with dancing, followed by refreshments.

The cake was presented to the class by Beverly's aunt, Mrs. M. McCaul. Those present were Mrs. K. Davis, Mrs. Gardner, and the class, instructor, Mr. Gootherts and his family.

Suspend Local Resident's Driving License

The drivers license of Dennis C. Hancock, 59 Wilson street, Daly City, was suspended earlier this month, reports the State Department of Motor Vehicles.

Cause of the suspension was failure to report for a re-examination, they added.

U. S. Needs Civil Defense

JOINING CIVIL DEFENSE CAN MEAN YOUR SURVIVAL

(This is the eighth of a series of articles on civil defense, based on the booklet "This Is Civil Defense" prepared by the Federal Civil Defense Administration. It may be obtained from the Superintendent of Documents, Government Printing Office, Washington, D. C., for ten cents.)

By MILLARD CALDWELL
Federal Civil Defense Administrator

The most important reason for anyone to volunteer for Civil Defense work now is that his or her life may depend on it. From that point you can add more names to the list which may be dependent on you in some hour of crisis: your own family, your relatives, your neighbors, and other friends in your community.

The protection of your own home, industrial property and war plants, public buildings, the place where you earn a living, your municipal facilities, your transportation system, farm lands, cattle, forests, harbors—everything which has to do with your life today, multiply the reasons why you should volunteer for civil defense work NOW.

Every good American will want to volunteer for civil defense. He knows it is his duty to do so, for there is no other way to recruit the millions of workers who will be needed to defeat an enemy on the home front. If we are attacked—and remember that we can be attacked—the hard, terrible task of getting our cities and industries back on their feet will fall mainly on civil defense volunteers. It is not a job for those who can't face facts or aren't willing to work. It is a job for real Americans with courage.

No one can do the civil defense job but the American people themselves. The Armed Forces have their own job to do. There are not enough people in Federal, State, or local government agencies to do the job for you. It is one of those things you will have to do yourself. And you will have to be prepared for any emergency. There will be no time to take a civil defense training course, or read booklets, when the bombs fall. All that must be done before if you want to better your chance for survival.

Service Means Survival

One local civil defense organization has adopted the slogan "Service Means Survival." It is a good slogan to remember. It sums up the meaning of civil defense. An efficient, tough, determined civil defense program can mean survival for the American people.

It's easy to find out where to volunteer for civil defense work, and the services you are qualified to perform. Visit or telephone your local civil defense headquarters, or watch for announcements from your local civil defense director. Your newspapers, radio or television stations will give you information.

Your Red Cross chapter is ready to train you in first aid right now. This training is required of all civil defense volunteers. If you are not able to volunteer, you should take the latest Red Cross first aid course anyway. It is wise for you to know first aid no matter what may happen.

Red Cross Courses

The Red Cross gives courses in home nursing and nurses' aide also. It is wise to have some knowledge of these courses too. Then you might be able to save a life in your family some day, war or no war.

You can help by being a Red Cross blood donor. Thousands of pints of blood would be needed after an enemy attack.

There are ten major volunteer services in your civil defense. All are vital and will be discussed in the next three articles. Read them and decide where you fit in.

Elman Rose Bows Out As Recreation Director

Come September Daly City is going to loose one of its most able and conscientious leaders—Elman Rose, director of recreation.

During his six years of spearheading the local recreation program Rose has done a remarkable job. It has not always been an easy task, especially as he was often opposed by less recreation minded, more politically minded officials. However, he has overcome this handicap to win the admiration and thanks of a community.

While recreation director for Daly City, Rose has built up one of the finest playground programs in San Mateo county. He is widely recognized as an authority in recreation activities, both by professionals in his chosen field and by laymen who have seen the results of his work in happy, healthy children.

Considering most of his work was confined to hours after long, tedious teaching, the man's success is phenomenal. Consider, too, the monetary returns for his duties were trivial, and we have a man who has devoted himself to children instead of power and the more all-powerful "buck."

The tall, black-haired soft spoken recreation director has become synonymous with the finest unselfish element in this community. In our humble opinion he is one of the few men in Daly City who is truly devoted to making this a better place in which to live.

Therefore, it is with a great deal of regret we will have to bid him farewell in September. The city will have to go a long, long way to find an equally good man to replace Elman Rose.

A Round Of Applause For The City Council

Possibly congratulating the city council upon holding down the tax rate is a bit premature—official word still has to come in July—but we believe the five gentlemen deserve a hearty round of applause.

In a day when cost of government is on the increase and taxes are two steps ahead, it is refreshing to find at least one government body which is conscious of how to save the taxpayers' hard earned dollars.

Consider, too, that the local budget is up some $75,000 over last year and the hold-the-line policy on taxes is even more remarkable.

It must have come as a great temptation to the councilmen to raise taxes in order to proceed with much needed improvements here. However, they evidently feel it is the people's choice whether they want a Community Center completed or a better water system. Rightly, we believe, the council is giving the people the "privilege" to indebt themselves for improvements to benefit themselves.

Looking at the city budget we have few faults to find. It is a remarkably able and fair bit of mathematics aimed at assisting the growth of Daly City.

Of course, it is one thing to point up all the needs of this community, but quite another to dig up the dollars to actuate those needs. It is the duty of this newspaper to foster intelligent progres while the much more difficult problem of insuring that progress resolves around the city's ability to balance the budget. In the 1952-53 city budget the city council and other city officials have carried out their duties well. We hope we may do as well in our small way.

Conversational Piece On Westlake

Now summer has fog-bound most of Daly City, we may be permitted a little license in introducing some relatively frivolous media into the hallowed halls of editorials.

In Westlake, for example, there is a typical bit of summer scuttlebut floating over backyard fences. Seems some of the residents are unhappy with Daly City and look forward to a divorce. Nothing would suit them better, the rumor goes, than breaking off relationships with city hall and setting up a regime of their own.

As all idle talk can snowball, even in the good old summer time, this same story includes not only Westlake breaking away from Daly City but joining hands with Broadmoor.

Chances are this whispering will never get to the shouting stage, principally because it is to every Westlake resident's financial benefit to remain in a city with adequate police and fire protection.

Humorous as this story may be, it is typical of relatively dangerous thinking. Instead of Daly City being a unified community it is rapidly assuming the proportions of two definite economic, social and political sections. Either you live in Westlake or you live in Daly City. Depending on where you hang your hat you are on the "right side of the tracks."

However, time is going to solve the whole matter. At the rate of Westlake's growth the older sections of Daly City are literally going to be swallowed up by the expansion to the west. This is progress, and we believe it is for the best.

Talk about setting up a separate city called Westlake makes good conversation, but that's about all.

Top-of-the-Hill Needs A Good Housecleaning

Isn't it about time--or rather, past time—for city officials to pretend they have a few fragments of civic pride and take action to clean up the streets and store fronts on the Top-of-the-Hill?

As a primarily suburban area, Daly City has but one central business district, and it is not unreasonable to expect that it be kept clean and presentable. This is a bare minimum that both residents and out-of-towners have a right to ask for.

Granted that, then there is no legitimate reason for the hill to resemble an unattended corner of the city dump. Our busiest intersection, the area most people think of when Daly City is mentioned, should be bright, painted, well-scrubbed and presenting a generally cheerful appearance.

Instead a dingy patina of dirt covers streets, sidewalks and building fronts, and every random corner is chinked with rubbish of all description. It is doubtful that a finer collection of metropolitan offal can be found outside of some of the more backward sections of the South.

Even as people look askance at a slovenly housewife who keeps a dirty and untidy home, so are they entitled to consider a city whose main street is obviously in need of a scrub brush and soap. If we were a factory town or an industrial area there would possibly be some excuse for the present conditions.

But Daly City is a residential neighborhood primarily. As such there is no excuse for its central business district to look like an adjunct to the Chicago stockyards.

We can scarcely blame the businessmen whose establishments are located on or near the hill. Many of them maintain a surprisingly neat appearance, and those who don't can hardly be censured when dirt from the streets quickly obscures their best efforts. The city owes these men, their customers—all of us, a main street that is a pleasure, not an ordeal, to pass through.

We do not know the cause of this condition nor the cure. Perhaps we need a larger street cleaning department, or a crackdown on rubbish ordinances.

But the condition exists and is much in need of correction.

One Danger Eliminated... But How About Others?

If work goes according to schedule, the death-dealing Crocker Hills lake will cease being a threat to our teen-agers by the end of the week.

The ultimate protective measure that THE RECORD insisted upon in previous editorials is being taken—Crocker estate officials are draining the muddy, over-grown pond that drowned two San Francisco high school youths in the past three months.

A new pipeline is being laid to furnish irrigation water formerly supplied by the lake, and we can confidently expect no repetitions of the recent tragic deaths.

Success in the matter, however, was not obtained without the payment of a stiff price. Larry Swayze and Ronald Grimesey had to die before public attention was called to the danger.

This is the real tragedy in all such cases. Someone—frequently children or youths—must invariably be seriously injured or killed before a long-standing threat to the public safety is corrected. And there is only one way in which this too-high a price can be avoided.

Instead of correcting such obvious menaces after they have been brought to our attention, why not take preventive measures before the damage is done- Why not a Public Safety drive in Daly City, beginning right now?

There must be many dangerous conditions in the area that demand correcting. A potentially deadly swimming hole, an open pipe big enough for a small child to tumble down, a vacant yard cluttered with broken glass and rusted metal. All are a possible threat. The time to correct them is now—not after it's too late.

All it would take is a phone call, a postcard or a few words to city or county officials, or to THE RECORD.

Take the trouble now to prevent a tragedy later.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

The Record welcomes any letter on any event of public, or private interest. These letters are published at no expense to the writer. There are just two requirements: the letters must be signed, and must be within the laws of libel. We hope readers will show enough interest in their city to occasionally "sound off;" for the purpose of this col umn is to give you, the reader, a chance to express an opinion.

READER PLACES DIRECT BLAME FOR YOUTH'S DROWNING ON COMMUNITY

June 24, 1952

The Record, Editor

Gentlemen:

This letter probably should not be addressed to you, but instead to the people of this area and the parents of children who are growing up in Daly City.

Recent articles and editorials in THE RECORD describing the tragedies in the irrigation resevoir in the Crocker hills have only served to focus attention on a situation that has been too prevalent not only locally but nationally.

Boys who have time to get into trouble or into mischief that leads to tragedy haven't had the chance to develop hobbies or past-times that would help to avert this sort of community problem.

The fact that the parents of these children can attempt to sue the County or the property owner for a few thousand dollars doesn't bring back to life either boy nor does it ease anyones conscience. No boys life should be thought of in terms of dollars and cents. $100,000.00 will not bring back life nor will it lay the blame on the county or anyone else.

Parents To Blame

The blame is with, and should remain on the conscience of everyone in the community including the parents. This may or may not sound brutal but it is the sad truth. Can we go around draining every lake in the country in which there is such a tragedy? Can we keep blaming the other guy when we too are responsible?

Here are a few facts which can explain a small portion of the above:

Daly City has too few Scout and Cub troops to help train children and help keep them occupied in their spare time. Why?

Daly City had a Junior Rod and Gun Club and it too was forced to disband. Why?

Answers

I'll give you a few answers. The Scouting and Cub program is failing for lack of leadership. Scout masters and Cub masters can't be found. Parents haven't the time to spend.

The Daly City Boys Club folded up because of lack of interest both in the financial end and the physical help end of the program. People just were not interested enough to contribute either time or money to help. Those persons who carried the load soon tired physically of doing everything!

The Daly City Rod & Gun Juniors had to disband because no one would step forward and offer to attend the boys meetings and supervise their activities. An example of the lack of parental interest was shown when one of the boys took home one book of ten tickets at ten cents each and returned one week later with none sold. I questioned him on the reason and he said he couldn't even sell his dad a ticket so he didn't try elsewhere. The drive was to raise funds to buy fishing equipment for the boys. The prize on the ticket was a $12.00 rod and reel which was donated by a local merchant.

You may say that is an isolated case! Is it? Try and organize a boys group in your neighborhood and see for yourself how much cooperation you get from you neighbor. I'll venture to say that of the many people reading this column not one will get interested enough to get out of his shell and help organize a childrens group.

Parental Interest

Until we get enough people interested in helping their own and other people's kids we can expect a tragedy every so often. I guess the attitude is: that you hope it won't be your own!

Personally I am against the county plan to purchase a boat and a trailer and special grappling equipment and I don't think the property owner should be held financially responsible for these boys acts. That's locking the barn door after the horse has run away.

I'd rather see the taxpayers money and/or any other funds put to work educating people on their moral responsibility to the community's children. I would also like to have a group or groups take these thoughts to heart and start an earnest organized drive for more and better junior organizations in Daly City.

Any organized effort to train the minds of children toward useful and entertaining play or hobbies is eventually going to keep some boy from getting into the type of mischief that may lead to tragedy.

Questions

Every person in this community or any other community should ask himself these questions.

1. Am I training my children in useful spare time activities? (Athletics, hobbies, etc.)

2. Am I taking part either financially or physically in a group conducted for the benefit of youngsters? (Scouting groups, Junior clubs.)

3. Am I interested enough in local youth problems to render either monthly or weekly assistance in the way of finances or instruction? (Club sponsor, Scout Master.)

If you cannot answer a definite "yes" to one or all of these questions, and be morally sure that you are carrying out the responsibility; then you and everyone else who falters when he answers is to blame for each one of those boys who found death in what they thought at the time a prank.

Instruction

If those boys had proper instruction in the dangers of a filthy mud hole for swimming they would not have drowned. If those boys had a group activity or hobbie to keep their minds busy, they would not have chosen this way to spend the afternoon. If those boys had the supervision of adults and the equipment supplied by adequate financing, they might have been fishing or playing ball and would be here today and we adults would not be feeling around in the dark looking for someone to blame our faults on.

Are you going to let this situation go on or are you going to do something about it?

Jimmy Fox
257 Woodrow St.
Daly City 25, Calif.

(Ed Note: James Fox, writer of this forthright letter, has good reason to be angry. He is a leader in local youth activities here, but rightly, we believe, complains of lack of interest on behalf of parents. Then, too, he has a personal interest in the recent Crocker pond drownings—he was the one who assisted in recovering the bodies of the two boys from the lake.)

SLATE PRE-INDUCTION FOR 78 IN COUNTY

Seventy-eight men have received notice to report to San Francisco for their pre-induction physical examinations, reports the San Mateo county selective service office.

Those who pass will be used to supply an undetermined county quota for the month of August. However, officials estimate that the August call will be approximately that of July.

The quota for July called for the induction of 62 men. Forty-three men will be supplied by Board 57, which serves the Daly City area, and 35 men by Board 58, operating in the southern portion of the county.

CROSS AT CORNERS

One out of every three pedestrian deaths last year was caused by jaywalking. The California State Automobile Association points out that safety is only as far as the next corner. Play it safe; use the crosswalks.

Bill Katz . . . FROM A CORNER

Consider the bald headed man. He's the brunt for a thousand bad jokes and the object of a million dollar hair restoring industry. Women rarely consider a bald man for his looks, but rather for his personality or bankroll.

A man's hair becomes a memory at the stage his chest line slips to his waist line. This is nature's way of playing out the human comedy to its logical end.

Men are supposed to lose their hair if they spend too much time under a hat. This is confusing in the tropics where if a man takes off his hat he's apt to loose his sanity. Most men in the tropics don't have to worry, though, for they spend their time under tables.

Brains

Some believe a bald head denotes brains. It is true some bald headed men are intelligent, but just as many end up as army officers.

There are many ways of restoring hair. The easiest and surest, however, is an investment in a toupe.

The care and treatment of a bald head poses a problem. There are those who wash and shine their heads with pride. Others go through the same process simply for cleanliness, but these lack imagination.

Shoveling

More bald headed men end up behind desks than on the end of a shovel. There is a startling number of bald headed men in prison, too. The correlation here is not too clear, but a bald headed man is now working out the problem.

Men lose their hair because they worry. Others end up without hair because they didn't worry soon enough.

The number of men on the fringe area between 16 strands and oblivion, have a problem in combing. Some prefer the spit curl, others the over-all plaster down procedure. Anyway you look at it, this is like trying to hide nothing with even less.

Some bald headed men are thin. There are even fat bald headed men, and some in between. Which goes to prove this isn't a weighty problem.

Keith Gardner . . . OFF THE RECORD

It was five years ago—in 1947—that the public's attention was first called to that unprecedented phenomenon now known as the flying saucers.

Since that time there has been a staggering amount of earnest speculation pro and con among the learned scientists and we poor peasants. The upshot being that the average man is so confused by the multiplicity of views presented that he just lets his natural skepticism take over and trys to forget the whole thing.

But amongst all the bushwah there has consistently been a small amount of fact and intelligent supposition. Let's skip the bug-eyed Martian monsters for the moment and see what can be salvaged.

Publicity Seekers

Point A is that large numbers of people, following the first sightings, developed a sudden urge to see their names in print and immediately began reporting the spots on their spectacles.

The armed services jumped in with saucer investigations of their own and much fun was had by all. When the publicity seekers, crackpots, etc., shifted their enthusiasm to Kukla, Fran and Ollie, the official saucer projects were dropped with much scoffing about mass hallucination and so forth.

But the flying discs are still with us. A steady trickle of reports continue to come in, and the Air Force is once again on the prowl. They re-entered the field for the simple reason that their own radar and theodolite men have successfully tracked hallucinations at fantastic speeds and through impossible maneuvers. This, they feel, is suspicious.

Where From?

Then if we have real, honest-to-goodness flying saucers with us (and we have, friend, we have)—where the devil do they come from? Obviously it's either Russia, the U.S., or from what a top-rank rocket scientist recently referred to as "an extra-terrestial source."

How about Russia? Concensus of expert opinion is that the USSR could not have made the enormous technological advances necessary to develop saucers in the short time since the war. When Germany fell, we and the Commies engaged in a frantic scramble for the top Heine brains.

Stalin's boys walked off with the best German A-bomb brains and now has a bomb of her own. But it was the U. S. of A. that got the rocket experts. And Germany, of course, was so far in advance of the rest of the world in rocket research that there was no comparison.

Not Us

Do we have them then? Chances are we don't There just hasn't been enough time. We did great work developing the atom bomb during World War II, but even WE aren't good enough to pull the saucers out of our hats a brief two years after the end of the war.

That leaves only one alternative. You can scoff at it, or accept it, or ignore it, but it is a fact. And the fact is this:

We are not alone.

Ridgely Cummings . . . HOLLYWOOD

The fact that I've been here in Hollywood for more than a year was impressed on me the other night. The deceptive way time slips by is surprising to me despite undeniable evidence some Roman thought of the same thing a couple of milleniums ago when he wrote "Tempus Fugit."

The chap who reminded me is named Marvin Poller. Marv runs a cigarette and candy stand on the Boulevard. He also sells magazines.

Television has knocked the stuffings out of the magazine business, he tells me. I should know too for I've watched quite a few of them disappear during the past year and even the old standbys are getting thinner and thinner, with fewer stories and more ads. Or probably a more accurate description is fewer ads but still fewer stories per ad space.

Big Trend

This trend naturally makes it tougher on a man in my profession, for thus far I have refrained from trying to write for TV and the competition among magazine writers grows more and more intense.

I use Marvin's stand as a sort of free, outdoor public library. Each week I buy a couple of publications like Saturday Review and Time but two or three times a week I drop by the stand and catch up on the ones I don't buy. Marvin gets two copies each of Atlantic, Harpers and American Mercury, and they sell so slowly that during the month I manage to digest their contents pretty thoroughly before he turns them back in.

I've been missing out on the New Yorker lately because they've been selling out on delivery, due to the expose of Hollywood that has been running the past few weeks.

Theatre Arts

Theatre Arts goes pretty fast on the Boulevard but Marvin holds out a copy of this one for me ever since I showed him the personal letter of rejection I once got from the editor.

Others I usually check to see what the editors are buying include Charm, McCalls, Park East, Cosmo, Argosy, which is coming up in the world these days, Redbook, and just about everything else on the stand except Esquire. I used to read that one too but the publishers of Esquire have frustrated me by binding their magazine with a paper wrapper. In order to look inside I have to break the strip and then Marv can't sell it. Once I tried to slip it off the way a girl slips off a tight evening gown, over her head. But the doggone paper is arranged so it falls apart under such treatment and I was stuck for four bits. It was too much, for Esquire isn't up to the standard it maintained when Hemingway, Saroyan and Fitzgerald were writing for it.

Well, as I was saying, it was Marvin Poller who reminded me I've been in Hollywood a year. He is a philosophic sort of man who puts in twelve or more hours a day behind the counter, looking at the traffic on Hollywood Boulevard, and I suppose one of the reasons he tolerates my reading all his magazines is that I provide company.

Favored Ones

I'm one of about six favored customers. When a stranger plants himself before the magazine rack for any length of time and then walks away without buying, Marv is inclined to get disgruntled. But he actually has a chair reserved for a few of us,

His other favorites include Jack Mulhall, Gene Roth and Percy Kilbdide, actors, Scotty Adams, an editor, and a Real Silk hosiery salesman called Harry, whose avocation is telling racy stories. Harry, who smokes strong cigars and can't really operate on a story unless he has his face a foot from the auditors, is continually telling me completely unprintable tales and then uring me to write them up for him. I did clean one up and send it to Reader's Digest, to their Life in these United States department, but that was months ago and nothing happened.

Recently I wrote a character sketch about a mechanical man who operates on the Boulevard and is well known to the cigar store gang. It was duly printed and I showed a clipping of it to Marv.

"That's fine," he said. "Now when are you going to write something about me?"

"Why just a little while ago I wrote one about you," I replied. "It was called 'A Stand on the Boulevard.' I even gave you the clipping."

"A little while ago!" exclaims Marv. "That was way back last summer. Let me tell you a story. There was this actor named Joe who used to do a double dance routine with his friend until he split up the act to get married. The other day he meets his friends and braces him for a loan of fifty bucks.

Bankroll

"The friend tells him, 'Joe,' he says, 'every time I see you it costs me my bankroll. When you got married I lent you a hundred dollars for wedding expenses. That was ten years ago and you never paid me back. Remember?'

"'Sure I remember,' says Joe.

"'Then when your wife had her first baby I lent you two hundred, remember?'

"'Sure,' says Joe.

"'Then when your twins got sick I paid the hospital bills, remember?'

"'Uh-huh,' says Joe.

"And when the finance company grabbed you car last year, I got it out of hock for you, remember?'

"'That's right,' says Joe, 'but what have you done for me lately?'"

After Marv had finished laughing appreciately he asked, "Did you get the point?"

"No," I said. "Draw me a diagram."

But I want to continue reading Marvin's magazine and this was certainly more pleasant than what Joe's friend went through. In fact I didn't mind it at all. Hope you can say the same.

$5,000,000 In Disaster Supplies Set For State

More than $5,000,000 worth of medical and first aid supplies for disaster use will be distributed throughout California during the coming months by the State Office of Civil Defense.

The stocks eventually will be placed in 683 first aid stations. These will be located in schools, city halls and similar buildings not only in the critical target cities of Los Angeles, San Francisco, Oakland and San Diego, but in the inland counties as well.

In an emergency, these stations will be stocked from storage depots strategically scattered around the population centers of the state. Each first aid station, when fully staffed, will be equipped to handle about 600 casualties for a period of 24 hours.

One of the largest single items on the supply list consists of 378,000 blood donor sets which will permit mass drawing of whole blood from volunteers.

The noises that a car makes are excellent clues to the maladies by which it may be affected, according to the National Automobile Club. As many of today's automobile instruction books indicate, there are impressive differences between knocks, squeaks, squeals, rattles, whistles, thumps, and so on.

Matthew 11: 28-30

We remember a picture of two calves tied together with about a five-foot rope, and in front of each was a pail of milk. The two pulled apart as far as the rope allowed, each trying to get its own pail of milk; and they wore themselves out in the vain attempt until it dawned upon them to get together and share each pail.

That is far from being a perfect illustration of the thought we would get from the text above; but it does suggest that a lot of people are getting nowhere in the matter of a satisfying and useful life because they are pulling away from Christ.

If they would accept his invitation, "take my yoke upon you," He would help them pull their load in life, for His is a double yoke; and even better still, they could have the joy of being yoked with Him and of helping Him pull His load of making lives and a world what God intended to be. The way to true freedom is in being yoked in harmony with Jesus Christ.

Ice Follies To Have Big July 4 Fete

The Fourth of July weekend will be one of the busiest ever faced by the Ice Follies, it was announced by George J. Campbell, General Manager of Winterland. The schedule calls for both matinee and evening performances on Friday and Sunday, as well as the regular performance on Saturday evening. There will be no performance on Monday, July 7, Campbell added.

Observance of the Fourth of July with all its excitement and thrills, is the stirring theme of "Yankee Doodle Day," the precision finale of the current edition of the Ice Follies which has been acclaimed by critics throughout the country as the finest in the sixteen-year history of this famous event.

The Fourth of July sequence opens with 32 shiny giant firecrackers on the ice. These revolve and each exposes a member of the Ice Follettes whose sensational precision skating has won them recognition as the Rockettes of the ice world.

The number ends with the traditional pin-wheel in which the last two "pony" girls catch on to the fast moving line in the final breath-taking moment.

"Yankee Doodle Day" is just one of the many sparkling spectacles which are featured in the "Ice Follies of 1952." Others are "Crinoline Gardens," "A Visit With Santa Claus," "Romance of the Islands," "A Most Unusual Wedding," and "Nipponese Sekku."

Candidates Report Their Campaign Expenses

In his unsuccessful race for the Republican nomination to Congress, County Treasurer Albert H. Sagehorn listed nearly 10 times as much campaign money spent as his opponent, J. Arthur Younger.

However, Younger reported that the amount listed with County Recorder Ruth Kirste as his campaign expenses did not include money spent on his behalf by the Republican central committee, which endorsed him as the official Republican candidate.

Sagehorn's statement listed contributions to $6415.83. Exactly $707.95 more than he spent. Younger listed only $592 in ex—penses—$300 incontributions.

Thomas Callan, who won the race for First district supervisor, reported the largest single expenditure listed by any one candidate. Winning over two opponents, the Colma rancher spent $11,718.29.

Bocci Spends $1000

Judge Thomas L. Bocci, Jr., winner of the race for the new northern district municipal judgeship, announced campaign contributions of $1000 and expenditures of the same amount.

His counterpart for the southern district judicial race, Edward Ryan, received $1339.41 and spent $1539.41. State Senator Harry Parkman spent $1622.87 for his re-election and received no contributions, he reported.

Assistant District Attorney Fred M. Wyckoff, unsuccessful candidate for the central district muncipal judgeship, listed his receipts and expenditures each at $2857.20.

Other Candidates

Other candidates and the amounts listed in their statements are:

Richard Dolwig, successful candidate for the 26th district assembly seat, spent $745 and received no contributions.

Supervisor Alvin S. Hatch spent $239.13, and Supervisor William Werder spent $231.97 in their unopposed campaigns.

Judge Edward I. McAufille spent only $200 in his uncontested fight for department one, southern district.

SMJC Canning Center Now Open

The canning center at the San Mateo Junior College is in full operation these days, and housewives from the entire county are canning cherries, berries and meats at the present time. Later, apricots, peaches, pears, plums, string beans, tomatoes and fish will be canned.

Patrons make canning appointments at the center, which is located on the Baldwin campus, can their produce under state licensed instructors' supervision, the food is cooked by state licensed operators, and then the patron gets back her own cans of produce. Each can is marked with the patron's own number which he or she has for the entire season. The center is popular with men as well as with the women, and many whole families work together in canning food for use later in the year.

Full information may be had by contacting the canning center office.

The junior college is also help-sponsor other activities this summer. Hillbarn and Millbrae Community Players have their drama programs, various recreation activities are operating, a strong musical program is taking shape, and the pool on the Coyote Point campus is drawing several hundred swimmers each day. The pool is operated under faculty supervision.

USEFUL NOW AND THEN

With all the free air signs around, the car's tire pump may seem unnecessary, points out the National Automobile Club. Yet, if the motorist will check up on his experience, he probably will find several instances in which the pump has come in handy. A car owner who met his first such instance not long ago found the pump absolutely useless as a result of long non-use.

College Prexy Says Federal Taxes Slow School Expansion

There are nearly four times as many federal employees in California as there are public school teachers. Dr. Lynn White, Jr., president of Mills College, Oakland, cited this fact and others recently as an example of how the burden of federal taxation is undercutting the quality of public education.

"All over the nation," he said, "taxpayers are refusing adequate support to our public schools because they feel that they cannot pay more taxes of any kind."

In California, Dr. White pointed out, there are 252,249 federal civilian employees, as compared to only 63,550 elementary and secondary school teachers.

He added that a further breakdown of figures of the National Education Association and the U. S. Civil Service Commission shows there is only one school teacher for every 167 persons in the state, while there is one federal civilian employee for every 42 people in the state.

School Expansion

"Educators, state officials and parents agree that California's schools must be expanded to accommodate the every-increasing number of pupils seeking to enter them each year," Dr. White said, "but expanding schools takes money. In Sacramento, the California Department of Education has announced that $923,544,000 is needed immediately to relieve overcrowding and generally unsatisfactory classroom conditions.

"It is obvious that much of the money needed so urgently for this tremendous task is being siphoned off in federal taxes to support the growing number of federal employees."

California, he explained, with its 252,249 federal employees, now has more than there are in Washington, D. C., where including those living in nearby Maryland and Virginia, there are 249,949 civilians on the government's payroll.

In December of 1951 there were 2,871,000 non military federal meployees. Compared with the 611,00 0on the federal payroll in 1930, this makes an increase of more than 470% in the last twenty years, he pointed out.

RADIATOR HOSES

The radiator hose on your car may become spongy on the inside due to long contact with the hot water that circulates through it. This may eventually retard water circulation sufficiently to cause the engine to overheat, according to the California State Automobile Association.

An All-Time Favorite -- The Strawberry!

By BETTY BARCLAY

No wonder the strawberry is referred to as the "Queen of the Berries." Yes, this scarlet berry has a flavor that tingles the taste-buds and enhances every food with which it blends. It is so adaptable in its use, that it embellishes the morning toast, the children's lunch boxes, the noontime luncheon, the tea-hour pickup, the formal dinner menu and the late supper spread.

For this all-time every hour favorite, the season offers glowing opportunities to keep the feel, and fragrance of spring by capturing the berries in homemade jelly and jam. It means that a few minutes investment of time will produce a row of wonderful future compliments. By carefully following the kitchen-tested recipes given here, even the most inexperienced lady-of-the-house can be assured of perfect jam and smooth-spreading jelly, using plump, ripe strawberries with their wonderful fruity flavor. The short-boil method of jelly making with the addition of liquid or powdered fruit pectin will always insure perfect success and mean savings on the food budget, too.

Strawberry Jelly and Jam

Strawberry Jelly

Yield: about 5 medium glasses

2 cups juice
3½ cups sugar
2 tablespoons lemon juice
½ bottle fruit pectin

To prepare the fruit. Crush thoroughly about 3 quarts fully ripe strawberries in a very large saucepan. Add ¾ cup water and mix well. Cover and place over medium heat; then bring just to the simmering point. (Do not boil.) Place in large sieve lined with double thickness of cheese-cloth. Drain and measure 2 cups juice into a large saucepan. Remove cheese-cloth and use fruit remaining in sieve for Strawberry Jam below.

To make the jelly. Add sugar and lemon juice to juice in saucepan and mix well. Place over high heat and bring to a boil, stirring constantly. At once stir in pectin. Then bring to a full rolling boil and boil hard 1 minute, stirring constantly. Remove from heat, skim off foam with metal spoon, and pour quickly into glasses. Cover jelly at once with ⅛ inch hot paraffin.

Strawberry Jam

Yield: about 10 medium glasses

4 cups strawberries
7 cups sugar
2 tablespoons lemon juice
½ bottle fruit pectin

To prepare the fruit. Use strawberries remaining from Strawberry Jelly above. Measure 4 cups into a very large saucepan.

To make the jam. Add sugar and lemon juice to fruit in saucepan and mix well. Place over high heat, bring to a full rolling boil, and boil hard 1 minute, stirring constantly. Remove from heat and at once stir in pectin. Skim off foam with metal spoon. Then stir and skim by turns for 5 minutes to cool slightly, to prevent floating fruit. Ladle quickly into glasses. Cover jam at once with ⅛ inch hot paraffin.

Hanleys To Leave Daly City After Long Residence

Ida Hanley, who can remember when "Westlake was just a cabbage patch and Mission street was a dirt road," will be leaving Daly City soon after a lifetime in this area.

Mrs. Hanley and husband Elmer, childhood friends who have resided on Woodrow street for the last 40 years, will be moving soon to Bethel Island, located near Martinez.

Last week she left her job at the city hall where for the past 10 years she has worked in the Daly City Water Department and City Clerk's office. Bethel Island will be the family home beginning in September.

With the help of a few friends, Mr. and Mrs. Hanley have been building a ranch-style home there, which, she says, is quite a change from Woodrow street.

A former president of the Woodrow Wilson and Jefferson Union High School Parent-Teacher Associations, Mrs. Hanley and her husband celebrated their Silver wedding anniversary last year.

Their only child, Mrs. Peggy Lacaro, is a graduate of the University of California and currently lives in Berkeley.

ELEANOR MILLER WED BY CANDLELIGHT

Daly City Girl Marries Texan In Service At Church Of Nazarene

Under a flower-bedecked arch, by the light of candles, Eleanor Bonnie Miller, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. R. Miller, Jr., of 279 Irvington street, Daly City, was wed in an evening service to Fred Conaway Kennedy of Texas.

The service was performed at the Church of the Nazarene, corner of Santa Barbara and Vista Grande, at 8 p.m. Saturday, June 14. The Rev. Wilson R. Lanpher officiated with the assistance of the Rev. Carlos L. Stepp.

Eleanor wore bridal satin with a tulle yoke and sleeve of Chantilly lace and an over bodice of lace. Long, pointed insets of the same lace faded down into the skirt, which terminated in a long train.

Her bouquet was of white carnations, begonias and bouvardia, with a corsage of delicately pink-tinted cymbidium in the center. A lace tiara crowned the fingertip-length veil.

Schools

A graduate of Jefferson Union high school, Eleanor attended Pasadena Nazarene college and is a former employee of the Liberty Mutual Insurance company.

Fred is the son of Mr. David W. Kennedy of Houston, Texas, and Mrs. H. V. Rice of Fort Worth, Texas. He is a graduate of Lubbock high school, Lubbock, Texas, and attended the Pasadena Nazarene college also. He served four years in the United States Marine corp, and is currently employed by the Goodyear Tire company.

The bride's sister, Mrs. V. W. McEachern of Pasadena served as Matron of Honor, and Miss Betty Miller, sister of the bride also, was Maid of Honor. The bridesmaids were Miss Beverly Bruch of Daly City and Miss Zena Maltsef of San Francisco.

Costumes

They wore ballerina-length frosted organdy dresses of yellow, orchid, pink and green, with large picture hats of matching material and satin ballerina style slippers. The bridesmaids carried bouquets of blended shades of gladiolas. The Maid and Matron of Honor carried deeper shades of carnations and gladiolas.

Little Linda Swafford of Alameda was flower girl. She wore a dress and veil that were miniatures of the bride's, and carried a similar bouquet.

Best man was Volus W. McEachern, brother-in-law of the bride, and the ushers were Stanley Abbott, Harold Shields, and Gene Ball. All wore white dinner jackets.

The bride's mother was dressed in a ballerina-length aqua lace dress with a white lace hat and white accessories. She wore a corsage of fleurs d'amour.

Groom's Mother

The groom's mother wore a deep orchid net gown, embroidered and of ballerina length. Her accessories were pink matched by a bouquet of pink begonias.

A reception was held following the ceremony at the home of the bride's parents. Cake, ice cream and coffee were served. Assisting were J. Kelsey Hawthorne, A. Mills, Carlos Stepp and M. W. Swafford.

The couple planned their honeymoon for Clear Lake, and will make their home in Pasadena.

A total of 51,000 varied articles, the majority of which came from misaddressed and undeliverable packages were auctioned off at bargain prices during the sale, which wound up last Saturday.

Postmaster Fixa said the receipts received are deposisted to the credit of the San Francisco Post Office partially off-setting the cost of claims and processing on the items.

THIEF GETS WATCHES, RADIO AND BEDDING

A second-story man reportedly entered the home of Mrs. Lois Coffer, 315 Evergreen avenue, Daly City, last Thursday and made off with jewelry—and some bedding.

Investigating officer Art Linhares reported that Mrs. Coffer went to the basement of her home at approximately 8 p.m. in search of a blanket for her son, and found the blanket missing.

Later in the evening, she noticed that bureau drawers in the house were opened and her watch was missing. A search disclosed that a ladie's watch, a man's watch, a table model radio and a bedspread were the thief's loot.

The thief apparently entered a bathroom window which Mrs. Coffer habitually left unlocked. Police found muddy tracks on the floor of the room.

Featuring fine art works of county artists, the exhibit will present to public view paintings, etchings, pastels, block prints, and sculpture in the main Fiesta building.

Mrs. Cochran was elected department guard. She also received a citation from national headquarters for her outstanding chairmanship of the legislature in the department.

Must Advertise Auto Debt Sales

Sales of motor vehicles in the possession of garage or repair establishments for the purpose of satisfying labor, materials, or storage liens must hereafter be advertised in newspapers of general circulation in counties where the vehicles are situated and where the sales are to take place.

An opinion interpreting a point of law in Sections 427 and 428 of the California Vehicle Code applicable to lien sales, has been addressed to Director of Motor Vehicles A. H. Henderson by Attorney General Edmund G. Brown.

It emphasizes that sales at public auction are required for the purpose of achieving a fair price and protecting the debtor's interest.

The Attorney General's opinion affirms that if the debtor's interest is to be protected, the law "must be read in a way which prevents such sales being held in a county other than that in which the vehicle is situated and the notice has been published.

"The opinion also points out that the law provides that where public notice must be posted for lack of a newspaper of general circulation, "the posting must be in the county in which the sale is held."

The conclusion is that the provisions clearly indicate that the statutes were enacted on the assumption that such a sale would take place "in the county where the notice is published or posted," and where the vehicle is situated.

The department requested the opinion as the result of reports that some lien sales had been improperly advertised, and that the vehicles on which charges were in arrears were sometimes sold in counties other than that in which the vehicles were situated and the notice had been published, thus reducing the chances of the owner to satisfy the lien.

HINTS FOR HOMEMAKERS

TOP OFF THAT JUNE PARTY DINNER WITH PRETTY DESSERT MERINGUES

by the General Electric Consumers Institute

There's something as gay and lighthearted as summertime itself in a meringue dessert served with ice cream and crushed fruit.

And individual Dessert Meringue Shells make an ideal refreshment choice for summer parties, too. They're easy to make with an electric mixer on hand to do all the beating for you.

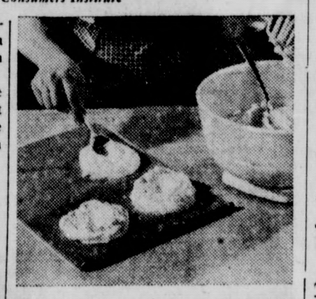
Dessert Meringue Shells

Tested in the G-E Consumers Institute

6 egg whites (about ¾ cup)
¼ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon cream of tartar
1½ cups sugar
1 teaspoon vanilla extract

Place egg whites in large mixer bowl. Using 3 beaters, beat at a high speed (Speed 12) until foamy. Add salt and cream of tartar. Beat at a high speed (Speed 12) until stiff but not dry. Add sugar a tablespoon at a time while beating at a high speed (Speed 12), scraping sides and bottom of bowl occasionally with rubber scraper for 5 minutes or until very stiff. Add vanilla extract with the last addition of sugar. Shape with spoon or pastry tube, on baking sheets covered with brown paper, in 4-inch rounds, about 1-inch thick, leaving hollow in center for ease in serving. Bake in oven 275°F for 60-70 minutes. Remove from paper while warm. Serve with ice cream and crushed fruit. Makes 18 meringues.

Add sugar to foamy egg white mixture a tablespoon at a time, while beating at a high speed.



When meringue is very stiff, shape it into 4-inch rounds with a spoon or pastry tube, on baking sheets covered with brown paper, leaving a hollow in the center for the addition of ice cream after the meringues are baked in the oven.

Look good? Individual dessert meringues served with ice cream and crushed fruit make a pretty dessert for June party guests, and for the family, too.

Powder Perfect

FOR LONG-LASTING make-up, it's important to "anchor" powder on. Dip a ready-made cotton ball in powder and press, without rubbing, the powder onto the face. It will take several ballfuls to do the job. When the face looks as though it had been dipped in a flour barrel, take another sterile absorbent cotton ball and whisk the excess powder off, using light downward strokes. Powder actually does "set" if given a second or two. Your complexion veil will look better and last longer if you keep your dressing table stocked with a supply of pure white cotton balls for powdering and make-up artistry. (ANS)

County Tax Rate Will Be Cut Back

County Approves $12,789,105 Budget

A county tax rate for 1952-53 of less than $1.25 was predicted this week by County Manager E. Robert Stallings.

This would be 63 cents less than the current fiscal year's basic rate of $1.88.

Stallings said the tax reduction will just about offset the 50 per cent increase in assessed valuation brought about by the reappraisal program just completed.

"The $1.25 figure is tentative, and the board of supervisors will attempt to hold it to $1.20," Stallings declared.

The rate is to be fixed after July 1.

However, it is almost a certainty that due to the increased assessments the overall tax bill of local residents will be higher this year. While the supervisors can lower the tax rate they are unable to touch the fixed costs for bond issue retirements (schools, lights, hospital etc.) which makes up almost three-quarters of the tax bill.

Meanwhile, this week the supervisors approved a final budget of $12,789,105 for operation of county government during 1952-53. This represents a $109,631 increase over last year, and is the highest in the county's history.

PLEASE, MR. SUN

"Please, Mr. Sun, shine down on me," says this pretty young lady in Dudley Casuals' halter dress of the season's most sensational fabric—denim. According to the National Cotton Council, nothing hurts old friend denim. It can be thrown in the washer, squeezed, wrung, hung or tied in knots and still come through in good shape!

CHAMELEON

The brilliant yellow stripes and solid bodice of this simple daytime dress weren't selected for their protective coloring, but they happen to match the sparkling tropical scenery at the Royal Victoria in Nassau. The National Cotton Council also points out the versatility of this Beaumart frock in Dan River Winkl-Shed.

Pair On Vacation Will Pedal Across The Nation

Two San Mateo county youths left their homes Saturday for a 3,000 mile trip across the country. They're pulling a switch on the usual travel methods, though. Ron Arms and Bill Rupp, both 19 years old, are going via bicycle.

First stop on their trip will be Salt Lake City, where Arms has relatives. The pair are planning to make the voyage on $90 apiece, a portable stove and bed rolls. They will work their way along if finances dwindle.

Ron is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Arms of Menlo Park, and Bill is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Merle Rupp of Belmont.

They left at 9:15 o'clock Saturday morning.

Cutting the number of Federal employees by 10 per cent would save the country nearly $1,000,000,000 a year in payroll, in addition to millions in materials and supplies, says the Milwaukee JOURNAL, which comments that such a payroll cut could be made by ending "wasteful services."

From 1928 to 1948, the value of physical assets under government control, excluding military assets, increased from $42,000,000,000 to $126,000,000,000, the National Industrial Conference Board has announced.

Summer Recreation

Marchbanks Playground

By Leslie Linhares and Frank Ingersoll Playground Directors

June 19th and 20th became a field of battle at Marchbanks' middle level. A raging duel was on among contestants of the checker tournament. In the early stages Joe and Anthong Stagnaro, Michael Brush, Larry Kane, Danny Rasmussen, Joe Crudo, Bill Savage and Ronnie Rose were eliminated.

In the final game Cathy Rasmussen and Rickey Craig put on a terrific struggle, but in the end Rickey, in a clever play won the crown and was acclaimed winner.

On these days a coloring contest was also held for the kids under 8 years. Judged according to age level, Mary Ann Lewis, age 4, was the winner and Carolyn Rose, age 7, the runner up. We are hoping to have many such events in the future.

On Marchbanks athletic field, Saturday, June 21, boys 9-11 engaged in the summer programs first baseball skills contest. The contest which consisted of three events; circling bases, throwing for distance, and throwing for accuracy was run off in association with the boys baseball clinic which takes place every Tuesday and Thursday from 10 to 11:30 a.m.

The all round championship went to strapping 11-year-old Paul Tapia who took two firsts and a second in the three events. Paul's outstanding feat was heaving the 12" softball 192 ft. 6 in. Second place in the all around championship ended in a tie between Henri Oliver and Billy Magee. Billy circled the 60 ft. bases in the fast time of 14 seconds flat.

Other individual event winners and runner-ups were Anthony Stagnaro, runner-up in circling bases event, Billy Magee, runner-up in the distance throw event and Joe Stagnaro, winner of the accuracy throw event.

On Saturday, June 28, Marchbanks will hold its first Ping Pong tournament of the summer. As usual a large turn out is expected for this popular sport.

On Tuesday, July 6, at 1 p.m., Marchbanks will start a stamp club under the supervision of Junior Director Michael Sebitz. Anyone interested may contact Mike.

Jefferson High Playground

By L. H. Reese and Pat Nagle

The game room at the high school rang with excitement last week as the ping pong tables and various types of equipment were carried in. The first few days were spent in organizing for the summer. Sign up slips were passed out in anticipation of the Thornton Beach Party which was held last Wednesday. On the Bulletin Board was a large sign announcing the big Fishing Day at Lake Merced on Thursday.

Meanwhile the Junior Baseball Clinic got underway with about twenty young hopefuls taking part. More youngsters between the ages of 9 and 11 are needed on Tuesday and Thursday mornings to make this activity a successful event.

Wednesday and Friday afternoons a new activity was started with great success. Basketball in the gym. This is open to both boys and girls.

With the return of Miss Erickson, badminton and folk dancing will be under way next week.

The movie for next Monday is "Poor Little Rich Girl," starring Shirley Temple. Plans are now underway for participating in the Playday and Picnic at Marchbanks on Wednesdays and several of our boys have enrolled in the Examiner Baseball School. We're off to a busy recreation summer.

Arts and Crafts

By Regina Warchot Crafts Instructor

School is over and everyone is rushing to the recreation centers and playgrounds for fun during the summer. All books are now replaced with bats, footballs, checkers and arts and crafts.

At the arts and crafts centers this week the older group worked on key chains, plastic pins and bracelets. The younger group worked on fruit baskets, vases and colored pictures. Everything was something new and fun to do.

Florence and Jerry Bennedeti, Lorraine Garabaldi and Mary Lewis worked hard getting the Jefferson Elementary School in proper condition for a recreation center. And at Crocker, Billy Bricker, an excellent artist, made posters for coming events. Walso Benavides helped all the new members at Parkview get acquainted.

A new arts and crafts director was introduced at all the playgrounds. She is Miss Eleanor Hughes, and she will be in charge of arts and crafts activities during the summer. So do come and join the fun. Meet new and old friends, learn new things, and have a nice vacation. Thanks for everything boys and girls and I'll see you soon.

OUT OF GODFREY'S TEABAG

I notice some young men in the audience. What are you doing here on a warm spring evening like this? How come you're not out raiding a girls' dormitory?

It got so wet out, I was going to get out my old boat, phone the nearest pet shop and order two of everything.

They tell me the sun came out. I didn't see it! My back was turned at the moment.

I don't have to work any more. I've got a half interest in a bushel of potatoes.

It rained so hard on Sunday they took the torch out of the Statue of Liberty's hand and substituted an umbrella.

It's been raining like that down on my farm, too. You should see my corn. You know, the farmers have a saying, "Knee high by the 4th of July." On my farm, it's, "In the bottom of the lagoon by the 5th of June."

I see by the papers some schoolboys stole a bus and went for a joy ride. No more dormitories to raid, so they're trying to scare the pants off all of us

CD Officials Meet With Air Force To Plan Spotter Corps

"Day by day the possibility of an eventual air-attack on this country by the USSR increase—we must arm ourselves now with the most powerful air defense organization in our history."

This is the warning given by Colonel James W. Andrew, commanding general of the 28th Air Division Defense, as he prepared to address a joint Air Force-Civil Defense conference held yesterday at Hamilton Field.

"The joint efforts," he stated, "of the United States Air Force and the Office of Civil Defense, in establishing an around-the-clock Ground Observers Corps can result in a possible deterrent to war, since it will give convincing proof to the Soviet of our preparedness. On the other hand," Colonel Andrew adds, "if war does come, the Ground Observer Corps will play a vital role in the defense of our country from air attack."

His remarks follow the recent 24-hour around-the-clock activation of the Civil Defense Ground Observers Corps, called into force by the nation's air defense chiefs on June 16.

State and county Civil Defense leaders met yesterday with the 28th Air Division at Hamilton Field for an all-day conference to outline plans for manning some 150 Ground Observer posts in the coastal regions of Northern California, and the Oakland filter center. County Manager Robert Stallings represented San Mateo county.

According to Major-General Walter M. Robertson, state director of Civil Defense, "Civil Defense in California has a huge task ahead to meet the activation order, to go into effect July 14. California now has 23,000 ground observers, all volunteers. A total of 65,000 must be enrolled to man an around-the-clock operation."

County Civil Defense directors throughout Northern California attended the Hamilton Field meeting to receive thorough briefing from the 28th Air Division on the military needs for the Ground Observer Corps in California. A major recruitment drive for Ground Observer Corps volunteers was one of the outcomes of the all-day meeting.

A petition calling for the move was presented to the planning commission last month, said Chairman Leslie C. Nichols.

Nichols told propenents of the re-zoning move that the commission will hold the public meeting in Brisbane at any time convenient to the residents of that community.

Palate Jaded? Try Jackass Meat -- The New Taste Thrill

(Editor's Note: The following story was received from the state department of fish and game.)

The offspring of dusty pack animals which helped old-time prospectors write some of the most colorful pages of western history are today providing rugged sport and good eating (this is a matter of opinion—Ed.) for a few venturesome hunters on the desert ranges of southern California.

The sturdy burros left or lost by grizzled miners since the middle of the last century have generated a unique race of wily, speedy beasts, which are fast becoming a nuisance, according to the California department of fish and game.

At least several thousand of the dust-caked jackasses now lord it over the barren desert hills. They are the masters of their remote range, and fear nothing except man.

Besides providing the thrill of a first-rate chase, the wild burro's succulent flesh (Ugh!—Ed.) ranks with that of the better game animals. In fact, burro meat is restricted by state law to human consumption.

A state hunting license is needed by participants in the trying sport, but otherwise there are no restrictions or closed seasons for the feral burro. He doesn't need protection! (Not from us, anyway—Ed.)

Far from human ears, the incongruous "hee-haw" of the once - domesticated animal breaks the tranquillity of the Mojave and Colorado deserts, the Saline Valley in Inyo county and the "humo" in northeastern California's Lassen-Modoc area.

The average northeastern specimen will sometimes dress out to 500 pounds of sweet, gamey meat — after a proper chase and skillful use of a good-sized rifle. Old hands recommend a .270, 30-60 or .300.

Intolerant of other animals, the burros take over and ruin precious desert springs and water holes, destroy forage for game and stock, and are one of the few animals which will kill the young of other species, according to Game Biologist Donald D. McLean of the state department of fish and game.

Formulate Safety Rules For Hot Rods

Safety measures to protect both the public and participants during hot rod races went on a firmer foundation this week at a well-attended meeting of representatives virtually every hot rod organizaiton in the Bay Area.

The meeting, held at Mission high school under joint sponsorship of San Francisco chapter, National Safety Council; the San Francisco Junior chamber of Commerce and the California Highway Patrol, drew more than 125 persons. Among them were many hot rod enthusiasts, including representatives of the San Francisco Ramblers and Hill Toppers.

With Iver C. Larson, manager of San Francisco chapter of the Safety Council serving as master of ceremonies, the group listened to a safety talk by State Highway Patrolman Ezra Ehrhart, who commended the group on progress made since a preliminary meeting in April. Ehrhart also showed three sound films, "A Day in Court," "Bonneville Nationals," shots of the hot rod races run in Utah, and "The Fastest 500," a review of the annual Memorial Day classic at Indianapolis.

Robert Barr, chairman of the Junior Chamber's Safety and Transportation committee, reported on progress of the hot rod "drag strip" now under construction at San Carlos.

Bard Berry, vice president of the Redwood Timing Association, reported on safety regulations and rules under which the groups will race when the strip is completed.

SARTO FINALLY LOSES; TO SAN MATEO SUNDAY

Not since Casey took that fateful third strike has their been such a catastrophe in baseball. Belive it or not, last Sunday Sarto AC lost a ball game.

Clashing with the Double-Play nine, the local club went down to a 6-5 defeat after leading up to the eighth.

On the mound for Sarto was Sarto—Tito Sarto, that is. He kept to the hill throughout the game, allowing five hits and one walk, and fanning a cool seven.

The loss breaks a long, long win streak for the Sartomen, but they are looking forward to starting another string next Sunday, when they play the Kanely Yankees at San Mateo.

Propose Larger Deer Kill To Improve State Herds

California game managers are looking over a report just issued by the state of Massachusetts which shows that deer starvation and heavy winter kills need not happen if herd numbers are kept in balance with the amount of food available.

"The Deer of Massachusetts" reveals that Bay State hunters each year harvest 25 per cent of their total deer population. The taking of antlerless deer has been permitted there since 1910.

In their report on the result of a Pittman-Robertson Federal Aid project, Massachusetts game biologists found two major reasons for a low winter mortality rate. In spite of comparatively severe winters, the "yarding" seldom exceeds four weeks, and by continued cropping of surplus deer, there are never too many around during the winter to endanger food supply.

To the California game managers now attempting to inaugurate new deer management methods, other recommendations of the Massachusetts authors also sound fairer. They advise the opening of more refuges to hunters and a greater annual harvest of deer.

DEER POACHERS FINED

Seventeen California hunters who set about to relieve the reported over-abundance of deer in their own fashion have been fined an average of $100 apiece for out-of-season possession of deer meat.

The errant sportsmen were arrested in seven counties by state fish and game wardens during May. One hunter received a 100-day jail sentence.

DON'T GAMBLE ON THE HIGHWAY

Don't take chances on the highway, advises the National Automobile Club. All that may be very "sporting" but it can also be deadly. When you gamble on the highway, the stake is invariably your life.

Along about now many of us are getting ready for the fishing trips we'll be taking to lowland and mountain lakes and streams, and to the seashore, during the summer vacation period. What tackle and other equipment we decide to tote will largely affect the results of our angling ventures.

When heading for areas where sporting goods stores do not exist, you want to be mighty sure to have enough extra lines, leaders, hooks, sinkers, and lures so that wear, breakage, or loss won't ruin your sport. And an extra fly and bait casting rod and reel are also necessary.

A few suggestions may save you time, expense, and empty creels this season. For rough woods fishing, especially where streams are alder lined, you'll want a 4-section Mohawk steel telescope rod, with a low price level wind Lakeside reel and 9 or 12 pound test Gold Seal braided nylon line.

For general fly casting needs, take along an 8½ or 9-foot Governor tonkin bamboo fly rod, single action National Sportsman fly reel, and two coils (50 yards) of Rainbow enameled silk line, oiled so it won't peel or crack. This will sort of be used as an extra outfit, for you'll want an 8½ foot tubular glass fly rod, Utica automatic reel, and 25 yards of Dry Flite nylon fly line for your "best" bass, trout, and panfish activities.

About 300 feet of Monel Metal line should be taken for deep trolling purposes, and a hank of linen line is needed for still fishing at baited bouys or handline trolling when you row a boat. Extra spools of cutty-hunk line are required if you troll or surf cast along the ocean beaches. One of the best is the Skirr Surf and Squidding line of braided nylon.

Into your tackle kit you'll want to tuck a few extra packages of snelled and ringed hooks of various sizes, common ringed and Saranac (pinch-on) sinkers, Cooper snap swivels, 3-way swivels, barrel swivels of different sizes, some chain ring swivels, treble hooks and split rings, and several packages of nylon leader material.

Besides these, find room for an assortment of feathered hook kidney and fluted spoons. Colorado spinners, June Bug spinners, nickel and copper trolling spoons, Red Flash wobblers, archer spinners for live minnows, Get-Fish lures, squid feather jigs, feathered bluefish jigs, and similar artificial baits. You'll have use for all of them as you travel over the country or along the seacoasts.

For details on what sizes of hooks to use for various Atlantic and Pacific Ocean inshore and deep sea fish, and other tackle, together with information on when, where, and how to catch the game fish, read Old Hi's free booklets called "Salt Water Sports Fishing" and "Pacific Coastal Fishing." Send a postcard request today to me, in care of this newspaper, and you'll get your copies about as fast as a bonefish can grab your bait.

At the same time ask for a copy of "Fishing For The Millions" for fresh water angling sport.
